Death of Professor Savage.

At a meeting of the Faculty of Union College held January 20, 1840, the death of Mr. Edward Savage, late Professor of Natural Philosophy, Lecturer on Physiology, having been announced, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That this body have heard, with deep regret, of the untimely death in a remote part of our land, and among strangers, of their late associate, Edward Savage, Esq.

Resolved, that entertaining a lively sense of his worth as a man, his service as an instructor, his attainments as a scholar, and the bright promise which his brief career afforded of future usefulness and eminence; his surviving friends and associates do place on their records, this unanimous expression of their respect for his memory and their sorrow for his loss.

Resolved, That they tender to his desolate wife and her bereaved family, and to all his relatives, the assurance of their sincere sympathy.

Resolved, That the members of the Faculty will wear the usual badge of mourning for the space of 30 days.

Resolved, That Professor Reed be appointed to deliver a discourse in commemoration of the character and services of Professor Savage.

Resolved, That in connection with a copy of these resolutions, the Secretary be directed to transmit to the gentleman in whose house Professor Savage died, and through him to his Physician and other persons who ministered to him with such assiduity in his last hours, assurances of the profound sense entertained by this body of their kindness and hospitality.

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be transmitted to the friends of the deceased, and printed in the newspapers of this city and Albany.

At a numerous meeting of the students of Union College convened on receiving the intelligence of the death of Professor Savage to express the sentiments awakened by so melancholy an event, a committee was appointed who subsequently reported the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the late mournful dispensation, by which a beloved instructor---one of the brightest ornaments in an extensive circle of friends---gifted with the noblest powers---enriched by the toil of fatal industry has been called away in the prime of life, and in the midst of usefulness; we recognize the hand of an inscrutable Providence, before which reason is silent and faith alone can bow in humble acquiescence.

Resolved, That we entertain in grateful remembrance, and will cherish as among the most pleasant of our college associations, the richness and beauty of illustration, the purity of precept and example the kindness of heart, and the suavity of manner, which characterized the instructions of the late Professor Savage.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the bereaved, in the loss of one whose private virtues were adapted to render him so peculiarly dear in the more intimate relations of social and domestic life.

Resolved, That as a testimony of our respect for the deceased, we will wear the usual badge of mourning during the remainder of this collegiate year.

Resolved, That the Rev. Prof. Reed be solicited to deliver a discourse on the death of Professor Savage at as early a period as practicable.
